DETAILED ACTIONClaim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 14-16 and 20-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 08086324.

JP '324 (see abstract) teaches the claimed composite material member such as light weight compound brake disc and method for casting the composite material member having a main material of aluminum or aluminum alloy (base 1), a secondary material of iron or steel (surface layer 3) and an intermediate porous material (laminated material 4) arranged between the main material (base 1) and secondary material (surface layer 3), wherein the porous material (laminated material 4) is a two-sheet laminating of 2mm comprising compact of foamed metal

Art Unit: 1793

(sponge-like metal) or porous metal fiber of diameter size not smaller than 10 micron and with pore volume rate or void content between 30 – 70% (see paragraphs 29+), and wherein the porous material (laminated material 4) is firstly soldered or diffusion joined to the secondary material (surface layer 3) (see paragraphs 21+) then forming the member by joining the soldered or diffusion joined secondary material (surface layer 3) and main material (base 1) by casting and solidifying molten the main material of aluminum or aluminum alloy. Further, Fig. 2 (a) shows the pore volume rate or void content reflected by the hole 7 is higher near the secondary material (surface layer 3). JP '324 may fail to specify the use of a uniform volume rate or void content for the porous material (laminated material 4). However, it is the Examiner's position that the use of a uniform volume rate or void content for the porous material (laminated material 4) would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art in order to promote diffusion bonding between the main material (base 1) and secondary material (surface layer 3).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 10/25/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., moderating the thermal strain between the main material and secondary material) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Further, the implication or suggestion of moderating the thermal strain between the main material and secondary material by a uniform volume rate is not supported in the claims.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
